

Gateway To The Ice Age Landscape

Through a holistic design approach, this proposal envisions Flyndersø Mølle as a captivating yet understated entrance to Nature Park Flyndersø – Sønder Lem Vig. Inspired by the Ice Age landscape character of the area, it employs an organic design language to guide the flow and tell the story of the park.

The proposal incorporates a paved area around the building with seating options, facilitating activities such as meetings, picnics, relaxation, and meditation. Naturally, it leads visitors to the rear of the building, where outdoor activities predominantly take place, offering a magnificent view of the lake. Materials such as dark grey brick and wood are carefully selected to create a unified aesthetic with the building. To preserve the tranquility and natural ambiance of the area, hard-paved surfaces are thoughtfully considered and minimized.
